Patrol Division Noteworthy Cases

Officers were dispatched on a 911 call of a male parked in a restaurant parking lot with a gun in his hand. Officers responded and observed the male in his vehicle with his head down with a gun located in his right hand. The male was ordered out at gun point and taken into custody without further incident. He was arrested and charged with unlawful possession of a handgun.

Officers conducted a motor vehicle stop on a vehicle for various motor vehicle violations. As the officers pulled the vehicle over, the vehicle jerked over the double yellow line and stopped in the middle of the road. Officers conducted an investigation and found that the driver had a suspended license, several warrants, and determined that he was driving under the influence of an intoxicating substance. During the arrest, officers located heroin, marijuana, cocaine (powder and rock), amphetamine, ecstasy, over $900 cash, four phones, and two hollow point bullets. The suspect was charged with numerous counts of possession and distribution of the various drugs located along with possession of prohibited weapons and devices.

Officers responded to a 911 call of an assault in progress at a business office. It was reported that the suspect assaulted the owner with pepper spray and attempted to slash him with a knife. The suspect was located in front of Borough hall and detained. # Patrol Division Noteworthy Cases

Officers responded to a health care facility on a report of a fire in a patient's room. Upon arrival, officers encountered a heavy smoke condition and were not able to make entry into the room with the fire. Officers confirmed that no patients were in the room and began evacuating the rest of the patients. No patients sustained any injuries or smoke inhalation due to the evacuation which allowed the Fire Department to work on and contain the fire.

ARRIVE Together Program

The New Providence Police Department participates in the ARRIVE Together Program which stands for "Alternative Responses to Reduce Instances of Violence and Escalation". This initiative partners a plainclothes officer with a mental health professional, who will respond together to mental health emergencies in an unmarked police vehicle. It was created to reduce the number of times police use force when responding to such calls for service.

The New Providence Police Department is one of several Union County agencies that participate in this program. When an officer is assigned on a designated day to the ARRIVE Together program, they are subject to call in the northwest portion of the county and may be called to respond to several towns in the surrounding area. This provides the Borough with this same coverage from another agency's officer when our agency officer is not on duty for ARRIVE Together. This program is a great tool to assist our patrol officers in a faster response, with other experienced professionals who's only task for the day is to focus on these types of calls for service.

Officer Christian Cely has served as the New Providence Police Department's primary ARRIVE Together Police Officer. Officer Cely is a certified Crisis Intervention Team (CIT) member with experience not only in patrol but as a former Emergency Medical Technician.

Communication Center

Union County Dispatch Center

NPPD Dispatch Circa 2014

The Borough of New Providence and the County of Union began a partnership on December 4, 2023 to provide Emergency Services Dispatching. The New Providence Emergency Services officially moved its dispatching service to the Union County Regional Communications Center, located in Westfield. This partnership provides the Borough of New Providence the opportunity to tap into the public safety resources that the County of Union provides to all of its residents. This transition has been in the planning and implementation process for nearly a year, with both agencies working tirelessly to ensure a seamless transition.

Union County Regional Dispatch will now act as the public safety answering point for all emergency service needs for New Providence, including all non-emergency phone calls, 911 calls and resource dispatching for Police, Fire and EMS.

Training Division

Captain Stephen Drown

In 2023, Department personnel attended and participated in over 4,000 hours of mandated and elective training. Officers voluntarily attended classes related to emergency management, school-based incidents, advanced supervision and leadership, crimes scene processing, digital evidence recovery, DWI enforcement, drug recognition, traffic management, and resiliency.

Our agency held mandated firearms, rifle, taser, use of force, pursuit driving, domestic violence, and CPR recertifications. Officer Carmine Boccellari became certified as a defensive tactics trainer, joining Corporal David Rodriguez and Detective Andrew Lynch in this role. They are certified with specialized training in Defensive and Survival Tactics from the Gracie Survival Tactics University of Jiu-Jitsu. Our officers attended several elective defensive tactics training sessions to keep these methods of de-escalation fresh.

Our expanded training assignments also included mental health and special needs crisis training, hazmat, right to know, detention facilities training, harassment in the workplace, and continued education for field training officers. Corporal Nicholas Guerriero and Sergeant Chad Wilson are members of the Union County SWAT Team with Corporal Guerriero and Officer Kevin Gutierrez serving as members of the Union County Emergency Response Team (UCERT) where they all receive advanced training in civil disorder, crowd control, and active shooter.

In 2023, much of the training that our officers received was from our own resources, utilizing the expertise that our officers have built through years of training and experiences. A large percentage of our agency has provided this internal training while others have also dedicated their time to training new police recruits at the John H. Stamler Police Academy. These officers instructed in such areas as Title 39, radar certification, crash investigations, EVOC, Firearms, Domestic Violence, and Report Writing.

Accreditation

In 2023, the New Providence Police Department completed our fifth re-accreditation with the New Jersey Association of Chiefs of Police. With this sixth cycle, our agency was among less than 2% of New Jersey agencies to have demonstrated this longevity and commitment to the accreditation program. Under Chief Henn's direction along with the outstanding work of every officer who continued to adhere to the daily mission of this department, this cycle completed our 18th year as an accredited agency.

Professional Standards

The New Providence Police Department is dedicated to serving the public in a fair, impartial, professional, and honest manner. Officers continually receive the best possible training to ensure that they are conducting themselves in a professional manner and are responsive to all they are called upon to serve. The Internal Affairs Officer is responsible for insuring that the members of the police department meet these high standards. The Internal Affairs Officer thoroughly investigates all complaints of misconduct against members of the New Providence Police Department.

Use of Force

The Internal Affairs Officer is also responsible for investigating all use of force incidents in a timely and thorough manner. In 2023 the New Providence Police Officers were assigned to 17,696 incidents with 7 involving use of force, which is a rate of 0.039% of incidents.

Investigations Division

The Investigations Division is comprised of the Detective Bureau, Juvenile Officer, and Community Services Officer. The primary rolls of these detectives are to conduct follow-up investigations of all criminal matters which may include obtaining and executing search and arrest warrants, conducting surveillance of suspicious activities and persons, processing crime scenes, interviewing and interrogating suspects, victims, and witnesses, and collecting and analyzing evidence. Detectives also conduct background investigations for pre-employment, civilian firearms applications, EMS and Fire Department membership, and Borough permit applications such as liquor, soliciting, and livery.

Detectives identified the individual and charged the male with harassment, terroristic threats, disorderly conduct, and making threats to a health care professional.

2023 Juvenile Report

Detective Sergeant Chad Wilson

The Juvenile Detective works closely with the New Providence School Resource Officers along with the school administrations. Through the Memorandum of Understanding and the open lines of communication, the Borough juveniles and their families are better served with the most important goal of protecting our youth.

All investigations involving suspicious activity or school security are filtered through the Juvenile Detective. The Juvenile Detective and School Resource Officers often conduct meetings with the school administrations to ensure that all cases are handled properly. These investigations are vital to the safety and security of all students and faculty.

The Juvenile Detective also handles all Handle with Care notifications. The Handle with Care program is an initiative to mitigate the negative effects experienced by children who have been exposed to trauma, and to increase knowledge and awareness of this issue. This involves officers identifying children at a traumatic scene and providing this information to the Juvenile Detective. The Juvenile Detective then submits a Handle with Care form to the school administration to ensure that the school is aware there was an issue and to keep alert to any change in the behavior of the child.

All cases involving juveniles are investigated by this detective which includes safety concerns but also any cases involving offenses committed by juveniles. In 2023, patrol officers took eleven juveniles into protective custody. There were eight juvenile cases in need of a follow-up investigation with one stationhouse adjustments issued and completed in lieu of formal charges.

2023 Community Services Officer Report

Detective Michael Carlino

The Community Services Officer role was designed to continue an interactive and collaborative relationship between the police and the community. The CSO, Detective Michael Carlino, acted as a personal contact for the Police Department, providing effective two-way communication. The CSO is responsible for promoting awareness regarding community events, safety initiatives, and prevention/scam alerts.

Community members were able to contact the CSO with any questions and concerns or merely to find resources within the Borough. Detective Carlino worked with local organizations, leaders, and citizens on an array of ventures or activities. He also worked side by side with community groups to address specific problems and to work toward certain goals.

Since its implementation in September of 2020, the CSO has become the Municipal Alliance Liaison and the Diversity Committee Liaison and is the lead officer for the PACT (Police and Community Together) program. Many of the programs run by the CSO include the Blue Angel program, Blue Guardian program, Blue Envelope program, Ring Neighbors Public Safety Service, Safe Places Initiative, National Night Out, the Veteran's Banner program, Coffee With A Cop, Cookie with a Cop, Women's Self Defense Classes, Senior Center visits, Tours and Presentations to the Boy and Girl Scouts, PATT program at the High School, Youth Academy, the LEAD program coordination and the PACT Newsletters.

Community Services Programs

Youth Academy

The New Providence Police Department Youth Academy gives children a chance to spend some time in the shoes of a police recruit. They learn what officers endured during their time in the academy and get a sneak peak into some of the training officers learned. The Youth Academy provides children with insight on how police officers perform their duties and what sources are available to them. Students learn about motor vehicle stops, crime scene processing, police job assignments, and how our department works with other agencies including the New Providence Fire Department, Emergency Medical Services, Union County K9, New Jersey Transit Police, Union County Police Drone Unit, Union County Bomb Squad, UCERT, and SWAT.

PATT Program

The New Providence Police participated again in the yearly program, Police and Teens together at the New Providence High School. The program consists of Juniors and Seniors from the Criminology class with the assistance of New Providence PD School Resource Officer Dennis Carovillano. Students interact with police officers to learn about their professional and personal lives while giving them the opportunity to learn about police practices, laws, and interactions. Students participate in mock motor vehicle stops that allow them to be in simulated situations that officers deal with on a regular basis.

Scout Tours

The Community Services Officer receives numerous requests from the Girl and Boy Scouts to run tours of the police department. The CSO conducts these tours, often with patrol officers, to talk to the children about the life of a police officer. This often assists the scouts in earning badges and patches as part of their yearly requirements for advancement. The CSO not only speaks about service to the community but also sets up mock crime scenes to give them insight in what detectives may encounter when processing a crime scene.

Operation Blue Angel and Operation Blue Guardian

These programs assist residents, who due to advanced age, mobility, medical concerns, or disabilities may be unable to answer their door during an emergency. This program assists officers in gaining entry into residences when time is of the essence.

Safe Place Initiative

The New Providence Police Department launched the Safe Place Initiative which has been adopted by all Union County police agencies. This program began in New Providence in May and is a cooperation with local businesses to provide a “safe place”. Partnering businesses display the rainbow decal on their storefront to let victims of crimes know that they can feel comfortable contacting and waiting for a police officer in their business.

The Blue Envelope Program

The Blue Envelope program brings together law enforcement and motorists with Autism and other sensory disorders. The envelope is resealable and a convenient place to keep all driver documents. It contains instructions for both the driver and the interacting officer in the event of a traffic stop.

National Night Out

The 2023 National Night Out was held on August 1st on Academy Street. There were games, giveaways, a dunk tank, and music. Numerous sponsors helped make this year another successful event. ## Hometown Hero Banners

The New Providence Hometown Hero Banners is a program that serves as a daily reminder of the brave citizens of the Borough that honorably served our country in the Armed Services.

DEA National Take Back

The New Providence Police Department participates in the Drug Enforcement Administration New Jersey Division's Drug Take Back Initiative. The event collects unused, unwanted, and expired medications so they may be disposed of safely, in a non-hazardous manner. This also prevents pills and medications from falling into the hands of juveniles or into illicit markets.

School Resources Officers

The School Resources Officers are responsible for the safety and security of all students, parents, faculty, and staff during school hours. They provide a safe environment by showing their presence within and around the school property. They respond to emergencies within the school and are a link between the schools and our Police Department. They provide medical assistance when needed and help maintain order of the traffic at drop-off and dismissal times. They provide immediate information to patrol officers which is vital in such events like locating missing students or identifying suspicious incidents. The School Resource Officers are members of the Police Department who utilize their previous law enforcement experience to provide excellent service to their school communities.

A Look Towards 2024

The mission, vision, and values of the New Providence Police Department center around ensuring that we make every effort to enhance the quality of life and security of our community. The department will accomplish these goals by continuing to look to the future and not being satisfied with the status quo. 2024 is a new opportunity to further the quality of service that the department provides to the community. Here is a look at some of what is new and ahead for the department in 2024.

Hiring

- Full time police officer to fill opening of Special Services Officer
- Special Class II Officer to fill opening left with Officer Guidetti assignment

P.A.C.T. Watch

- P.A.C.T. Watch is the New Providence Police Department's residential crime program aimed at providing the public with crime information and area specific information in a timely manner.

Home and Business Security Assessment Program

- The purpose of this program is to assist home and business owners with decreasing the likelihood that their property is targeted by sharing information and safety measures.

Special Needs Registry

- The Special Needs Registry is a Union County program for police officers to help our residents who may need extra assistance in the event of an emergency. Officers can search the registry and find vital information to help those in need.

License Plate Readers

- The Borough council has approved the purchase of license plate readers on several locations surrounding the Borough. This will greatly assist in investigations, the locations of missing persons, alerting patrol officers of stolen vehicles, and will help in the apprehension of wanted criminals.
